

Privacy Policy

Revised June 12, 2019

The following is Barnum Mechanical Inc.'s (BMI's) online privacy policy, which governs how your information is gathered and used on BMI's internet site. At BMI we recognize the importance of protecting your personal information and are committed to processing it responsibly and in compliance with applicable data protection laws where BMI operates.

Your Information That BMI May Collect Online

When you submit a comment, question or resume to the BMI website, you also submit your name and email address to BMI. BMI does not share that information with any third party.

How BMI Uses Your Information

Most information we collect about you comes from our direct interactions with you. When you register for an event, we may collect information (online or offline) relative to the event organization, and during an event, such as participation in educational sessions or surveys. We may combine the personal information we collect to develop aggregate analysis and business intelligence for conducting our business and for marketing purposes.

You can choose to receive information by email, telephone or postal mail about our products and services, or download case studies or whitepapers. At certain points where your information is collected on our site, there may be a box where you may indicate you would like to be on a mailing list to receive further information about BMI. You can remove your name from a BMI mailing list by utilizing the unsubscribe feature contained in the emails. You can always opt-out from receiving communications by sending an e-mail to privacy@barnummech.com.

Resumes and Personal Information

If you submit a resume or other information pursuant to employment with BMI, any and all personal information is maintained in our Human Resources system and is not shared with anyone (except as required by law). We strongly encourage you to exercise caution when providing information about yourself to others online. We remind you to never provide your social security number or unnecessary personal information to a potential employer.

Cookies and Other Identifiers

BMI may use persistent identifiers such as cookies, embedded scripts, beacons, tags and similar technologies for several purposes, such as to provide easier site navigation, access to forms, analytics and advertising. You can still use BMI's website if you have set your browser to reject cookies, but it may prevent you from viewing or accessing some of the features of our site.

Uses of Persistent Identifiers for Analysis and Custom Content

BMI may use identifiers to generate certain types of usage data, such as the number of hits and visits to our site. This information is used to understand how visitors use our sites and to provide better services to you. BMI also uses identifiers to customize the content you see while using our site.

BMI collects analytic information about your visit to BMI's website to help us improve our website and better serve you when you visit us online in the future. Analytic information may include identifiers such as your browser type, IP address, referring site URL, web pages you view and links you click on while navigating within our site.

Advertisement Choices

BMI does not collect or use information about your browsing activity on our website in order to send you advertisements.

Other Purposes

We respond to requests from governmental agencies and when required by law (such as by subpoena, investigative demand, court order or regulation).

International Transfers

If you are visiting our site from outside the United States, be aware that your information will be transferred to, and maintained on, computers located within the United States. The collection, use, retention and any other processing of your information will be governed by United States law and further by the specific jurisdictions within the United States where that information is stored.

Updates

If BMI changes this policy in the future, we will post the changes here and indicate the date of the changes at the top of the policy.

Problems or Complaints with BMI's Privacy Policy

If you have questions, comments, or a complaint about BMI's compliance with this privacy policy, you may contact us at privacy@barnummech.com.